Sub-Common Garage Wins Committee OK

A majority of the 15 members of the legislative committee on cities favors construction of a garage under Boston Common, Sen. Ralph Lerche of Northampton, chairman, announced today after his group held an executive session.

Three members were appointed a subcommittee to consider various bills for the underground garage, but it was learned the only matter at issue is that of financing.

The sub-committee will make a survey to determine if the garage should be financed by the State, the city of Boston, or by private capital and will report back within a week. The committee will then present the bill to the Legislature with a recommendation it be speedily enacted. It was learned some members of the committee are in favor of a three-man Boston Common Parking Authority to assume complete charge of the project. If the committee recommends private financing, this group would lease the property to private builders.

She Pays Strip-Tease Bet

LOS ANGELES, March 27 (AP)—A 16-year-old high school student described a strip-tease dance in Superior Court yesterday, which he said was performed by a red-haired, 29-year-old housewife on a bet that another youth couldn't follow her through an acrobatic stunt. The witness, Walter Nicolson, appeared at the trial of Portland, Ore., just as he was about to board a Russian vessel which was preparing to sail home.

Redin was accused of seeking plans and information regarding the USS Yellowstone, a destroyer tender, one of the newest of the Navy's warships.

A naval officer said in San Francisco the vessel was scheduled to take part in Pacific atomic bomb tests. Spokesmen for the joint Army-Navy task force conducting "Operations Crossroad" said in Washington, however, the Yellowstone was not one of the ships to be used in the experiment. The State Department said Redin did not have diplomatic immunity—the special status exempting foreign diplomatic representatives from application of United States laws.

Acheson told a news conference the Justice Department kept the State Department fully posted on developments but would not further discuss the arrest of Redin, a member of the Soviet purchasing commission at Seattle.

In Portland Redin, talked cheerfully about anything except the spying of which he is accused, his jailers reported.

The young Soviet officer was taken to the U. S. marshal's office to await hearing, which was postponed last night by Redin's demand for counsel. U. S. Commr. Robert Leedy said Russian Consul-General Michael Vavilov was flying to Portland from San Francisco and the hearing probably would await his arrival.

Redin was described as "very friendly" by U. S. Marshal Jack Caulfield.

His capture was revealed earlier by a Portland police detective who said three Russian agents appeared last night at police headquarters to report the "abduction" of Redin as he stepped toward the S. S. Alma Alta gangplank.

Arraigned before U. S. Commr. Robert A. Leedy, the uniformed Soviet officer was asked whether he understood English.

Thumping Leedy's desk, Redin cried, "I will not talk, I will not

N. H. Hero Given Medal of Honor

WASHINGTON, March 27 (AP)—President Truman awarded the Congressional Medal of Honor to Comdr. Richard H. O'Kane of Durham, N. H., on the south lawn of the White House today.

O'Kane was accompanied by his wife and their children, his parents and sister.

O'Kane's award was for "conspicuous gallantry and intrepidity at the risk of his life above and beyond the call of duty" when he commanded the submarine Tang in operations against two enemy Jap convoys Oct. 23 and 24, 1944, in the Formosa straits.

Mrs. Audrey Rightmire and her sister, Mrs. Goldie Lowell, 25, on charges of contributing to the delinquency of minors.

"There were several boys and two girls there," Nicolson said of a visit to Mrs. Lowell's home. "Mrs. Rightmire bet one of the boys he couldn't follow her in an acrobatic stunt. He did. Then Audrey did a strip-tease to pay off the bet."

The women denied the charges.

U.S., Reds Fail to Find Solution to Iran Row

By JOHN M. HIGHTOWER

NEW YORK, March 27 (AP)—The United States and Russia went into a United Nations Security Council meeting today completely split over the Iranian issue and meeting if Iran, by British-American officials speculated that Russia might quit the

The council was called to order by Dr. Quo Tai-Chi of China at 3:07 p. m., a little more than two hours after a subcommittee of Sec. Byrnes, Soviet Ambassador Gromyko and French Ambassador Henri Bonnet had broken up in disagreement over whether the council should hear a statement from Iranian Ambassador Hussein Ala.

Byrnes was insistent that Ala be called, according to American informants, and Gromyko stood on his arguments of yesterday that the Russian-Iranian case was not one for council consideration at this time, but that if it had to be heard anyway it should be delayed until April 10.

Gromyko said yesterday that if Ala was called it would mean the Iranian issue was before the council formally and he would have to refrain from participating and from attending the meetings.

Polish Ambassador Oscar Lange asked President Quo to change the order in which various proposals would be put to a vote so the council would have a chance to ballot on an Australian motion that Iran make a written report before taking up its proposals.

Quo ruled, however, the motions should be put in this order: First, Russia's motion for postponement until April 10; second, Egypt's motion that Iran be allowed to make an oral statement to the council; third, the Australian motion for a written report only.

Reuther, Thomas In Nip-and-Tuck Auto Union Fight

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J., March 27 (INS)—As balloting neared a close, it appeared probable that Walter Reuther had defeated R. J. Thomas.

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J., March 27 (AP)—Walter Reuther and R. J. Thomas were running almost neck-and-neck in their fight for the presidency of the CIO United Auto Workers today when about one-fourth of the votes had been cast.

Reuther was leading shortly after 1 p. m. by an unofficial count of 1007 to 991.

Several important unions with large blocks of votes were yet to signify their choice.

A total of 8830 votes were to be cast by fewer than 2000 delegates, some having more votes than others.

Reuther, red-haired leader of the General Motors strike, had received a bigger ovation than his opponent when they were formally nominated.

What looked to be two-thirds majority of the 1877 delegates paraded round the hall for Reuther.

Reuther was grinning broadly and chewing gum on the stage.

Brockton Girl Begs Fugitive to Give Up

Revealed through love letters found in an abandoned auto in Kingston as the girl friend of a hunted Army escapee who eluded Plymouth police in a gunfire chase last night, an attractive, auburn-haired Brockton girl today appealed to the soldier to surrender before he is seriously hurt.

Miss Jacqueline Nihan, 20, of Dutchland ave., Brockton, frankly admitted her love for the youth, whom she identified as Randolph Reaves, 23, of Georgia.

As Jacqueline, a payroll clerk in a Stoughton factory, issued a plea that he give himself up, state and local police set up a watch at her home, guarded highways, and searched the swamp in Kingston where Reaves was last seen when a companion was captured at gunpoint.

"If there is any way to get word to him, tell him I want him to give himself up," Miss Nihan said. "Tell him to get this mess straightened out and when it's over we can still get together."

Police identified Reaves' captured companion as Thomas E. Dickerson, 22. Authorities said the two youths broke out Monday from the Army disciplinary camp at New Cumberland, Pa., where each was serving a 10-year term, allegedly stole a car from a Mystown, Pa., woman and drove to Cape Cod.

They were riding along Court st., Plymouth, when two registry inspectors halted them in a routine inspection. Fearing capture, the two soldiers sped away. The inspectors and Plymouth patrolmen Herbert Parkhurst and Eric Nelson started in pursuit and the chase ended in the Kingston swamp where the officers fired four shots. Dickerson was captured, but Reaves escaped.

The love letters found in the abandoned auto brought in Miss Nihan into the case. The letters, most of them signed "Jackie," were sent to Reaves at the Low-down County Jail, Leesburg, Va., where Jacqueline said he served a three months term for "getting in a jam."

The Brockton girl said she met him at a Brockton club three years ago while he was at Camp Edwards. They kept company week-ends for a year, she added, but after he was transferred to Panama, they didn't correspond until last October.

$1000 State Bonus Bill Killed

The Massachusetts House killed a bill today to pay all veterans in the state a $1000 bonus, the revenue for which was to have been raised through a state lottery.

The House accepted the adverse report of the legislative committee on Military Affairs without a dissenting voice from the floor.

The bill was filed by former Lt. Gov. Francis E. Kelly, who led a demonstration of nearly 1000 veterans at Faneuil Hall two weeks ago demanding passage of the measure.

City health authorities told the mayor he could enter the basement of his home—to tend the furnace.

WONT MOYE—Mrs. Mary E. Kelley, shown with Colin, 2, and Anna, 3, two of her ten children, fights eviction from East Boston housing project.

Mother of 10 Holds Out In Battle Over Eviction

Mrs. Mary E. Kelley, 40, brought a two-year eviction battle to a fiery climax today by barricading her 10 children behind doors of their apartment in the Maverick sq. housing project, East Boston, and vowing no one would dislodge them.

"No one takes a stick of furniture out of this house except over my dead body," she promised, while effectively brandishing a sharp machinist's file.

Hours later, a city constable cursed a bruised nose, two crews of workmen had taken their trucks and departed and Mrs. Kelley was still on the field of battle, very much alive. All her troubles she blames on "Johnny-come-lately" and "snooping" neighbors.

An eviction order, signed by Judge Charles Brown of East Boston District Court, later was turned back to officers of the federal housing project. The next move is up to them. They say that Mrs. Kelley goes out for sure tomorrow.

The constable arrived bright and early today and presented his court order and showed his badge. Holding the fort with their mother were Charles E., Jr., 21, just out of the Navy; Mary E., 20; Dorothy F., 17; Joseph, 16; Harold C., 15; John R., 12; Helen M., 11; Margaret J., 6; Anna, 3, and Colin P., 2.

To a reporter, who respectfully held his distance, Mrs. Kelley later told this story: "I told that constable fellow just what he could do with his eviction paper and what he could do with his badge, too. I had to punch him in the nose to drive him out. The cops came down later but that's all there was to that.

"I was born in East Boston and I'm going to stay right where I am in this apartment. I didn't come down here from Maine or New Hampshire. Let those people move out if there's any moving to be done."

Mrs. Kelley added that a second gang of workmen arrived later but she made short work of them. It seems they were union truckmen and she showed them her husband's union card. He is a longshoreman but took no part in today's proceedings.

John Steele, manager of the project, in Maverick st., said eviction proceedings were started against the family three years ago. He said that at one time 10 other tenants appeared against them before Judge Brown in court.

The Kelleys last court appearance was in December when Judge Brown gave them one month to get out. Because of the cold weather, Steele agreed that they could stay until spring.

Mrs. Kelly has hauled a big divan in front of the apartment door and she and several neighbors are holding it against all comers. This group in the housing project include Mrs. John Reid, Mrs. Evelyn Hawes and Mrs. Mary Eldredge.

Kelley was all for getting a new home last night.

"Oh, no you don't," his wife declared. "We're staying right here. I'm running the show and the 'snoopers' will get out long before I do. Let 'em come, I'm waiting."

Curley to Write Own Life Story As 4 Others Try

Although four persons, including his son, Francis, have told him they are preparing biographies of him, Mayor Curley said today, he intends to top them with an autobiography covering his career from grocer boy to Governor.

Curley disclosed that Municipal Judge Daniel J. Gillen, one of his mayoralty secretaries in 1922 whom he named to the bench while Governor, is working on one tome, while Francis Curley, a student of the Jesuits at Shadowbrook, Lenox, has another in the offing.

Their proposed authorship of Curliana was made known following similar declarations by Clement A. Norton, chairman of the school committee, and Wendell Howie, the mayor's press secretary, a former newspaperman.

All claim to have rich and adequate material but the mayor's friends give him the inside track.

Maine Girl, 5, Swallows Pin, Gets Ride in Plane

Five-year-old Elizabeth Roth of Caribou, Me., arrived at the Logan Airport this morning with a bobby pin in her stomach and a travel bee in her bonnet.

"I swallowed a bobby pin," she explained happily, "and so I go on an airplane."

Her mother, who is taking her to New York to have the pin removed, volunteered, "She is not suffering."

This was obvious. Elizabeth appeared to sense she had become something of a celebrity. She was almost condescending to adult questioners. Yes, she had swallowed the pin Monday night. No, it didn't hurt. In fact, everything was peachy; she had a wonderful train ride to Boston and now she was going up in the sky.

Elizabeth, in all truth, seemed sorry for any little girl who did not have a bobby pin in her stomach. She gave a queenly little wave, entered the plane and went zooming skyward.

Later the Associated Press reported from New York that Elizabeth had arrived safely, still talking proudly about her bobby-pin. A physician there said she was in no immediate danger and would be X-rayed before means of removing the pin were determined.

GERMANY-BOUND — Henry Parkman, former Brig. Gen. during the past war, is leaving for Germany shortly for a year's service with the Office of Military Government. He will direct civil administration in Berlin.

White-Collar Strike Before State Board

While modishly dressed men and women continued to picket offices of the Stone & Webster Engineering Corp., Boston's white-collar strike, first of its kind in U. S. labor history, went before the State Arbitration Board today.

Gen. Charles H. Cole, chairman of the board, scheduled an afternoon conference to hear details of a wage dispute which led to the walkout of more than 600 of the firm's engineers, designers and draftsmen.

All 16 Harvard graduates whose informal gatherings led to the unionization of the firm's employees, reported for picketing duty this morning, most of them with learned tomes to study while doing their rounds. The famed Dracula Club, which held the record for donating 1400 pints of blood to the Red Cross during the war, was hastily reorganized and its 288 members assigned to strike tasks.

Their four officers, Homer Corse of North Quincy, Charles Vaulding of Roslindale, John J. Rosen of South Boston and John McCarthy of Roslindale, said the members had donated blood on their own time and that this had united them for the present fight.

But it's a very gentlemanly fight—and passers-by still stare amazed at the decorum and elegance of the pickets.

And fashion editors would find a good style story in the attire of the girl pickets. Esther Spiegel of Calender st., Dorchester, a draughtswoman, has used her knowledge of color in the selection of her costume, consisting of a bright green spring suit with a tiny hat of just the right complementing shade of brown. And Virginia Wiseman, a Vesper George Art graduate, showed up this morning in black with flower-pink.

Ralph Carlson brought his little 3-year-old son with him, both looking like a Brooks brothers ad, but his colleagues volunteered to take his place so he could give the heir a fling in town instead. Another picket was excused so he could put in some time practicing. He was Bob Stewart, well known tennis player. Cyrus Clark whose son was killed overseas was also excused from picketing.

Housing Chiefs See Million Evictions Near

A million families will be evicted from their homes in the nation within a year it was disclosed today as plans went forward for construction of 80,000 veterans' homes in Massachusetts in two years.

John E. Dobbs, regional housing expediter for the National Housing Agency, revealed the magnitude of expected evictions while discussing non-veterans eligible to build homes.

"The OPA expects 1,000,000 evictions during the next year, and if eviction cases are added to the other hardship cases, the veterans' housing problem will not be cracked," he said.

On a proportional basis, out of 1,000,000 evictions in the nation, about 30,000 would be in Massachusetts and close to 15,000 of them in the Greater Boston area, it was estimated. The two year veterans' housing program anticipates 40,000 of the State's 80,000 veterans' homes will be built in Greater Boston in the next two years.

Meanwhile, Sumner K. Wiley, regional Federal Public Housing Administration head, announced that 700 more housing units for veterans and servicemen's families have been made available in New England.

Wiley explained some time will be required for moving and preparing sites before these units can be ready for occupancy. Massachusetts will get 515 of the new units, with 300 going to Worcester, 100 to Springfield, 50 to Southbridge, 40 to Gardner and 25 to Needham.

William P. Homans, new Civilian Production Administration regional director here, is in charge of approving all non-residential building now in the planning stage. He said any construction project interfering with veterans' housing will be rejected, but said he was instructed to use common sense in interpreting the order.

Building experts here seemed agreed the largest projects not yet begun would be delayed, and a Building Trades Council spokesman predicted unemployment for 15,000 to 36,000 building trades workers in Greater Boston.

William H. Nye, general manager of the Turner Construction Co., in charge of erecting the $12,500,000 John Hancock building in Park sq., argued that the large structural materials used in the building could not be used for veterans' housing.

Fresh Clues Reopen Probe Into Cape Man's Gun-Death

ORLEANS, March 27—Baffling circumstances in the death of Leslie David Baker, 42, Army Air Forces veteran, builder and aviation enthusiast, whose body was found Monday night in a lane 60 feet from his home with a bullet wound in his heart, were being probed today by Dist. Atty. Frank E. Smith despite a medical examiner's report of suicide.

An autopsy on the body was performed last night by Dr. Alan R. Moritz of Harvard and Dr. Walter E. Jetter, State pathologist, and internal organs were sent to the Harvard medical laboratory for analysis.

Dr. C. H. Keene of Chatham filed the certificate setting forth that Baker was a suicide, but new information caused him to renew the investigation.

"It is difficult to believe a man could have shot himself through the heart and then walked more than 60 feet to the spot where his body was found," Dist. Atty. Smith said.

"Another puzzling factor is that two revolvers were found on a tray in the room where the victim was supposed to have shot himself."

Detectives Harold J. Pelouin and Donald P. Tulloch were questioning a woman with whom Baker was said to have been on intimate terms since his estrangement from his wife, Mrs. Hannah B. Baker, mother of his 15-year-old son.

Police said Baker's wife left him several months ago after he had quarreled and fired a shot at her through a door.

U. S. Drafts Plans For Rationing Coal

WASHINGTON, March 27 (AP)—Government agencies moved swiftly today to ease the blow due to fall Monday when John L. Lewis calls on his 400,000 soft coal miners to take a rest. However, spokesmen for the bituminous operators predicted the steel industry would be affected immediately and some steel mills would be shut down by April 10.

These predictions followed Lewis' decision to terminate his present contract with the soft coal producers as of midnight Sunday.

A spokesman for the Solid Fuels Administration disclosed that an order is in the works to freeze coal shipments until some form of industrial rationing can be worked out.

Her Home WAS Phone Booth

NEW YORK, March 27 (AP)—That old housing shortage gag—"Why don't you move into a telephone booth?"—came true today. A 45-inch midge was discovered enjoying light housekeeping in a booth in the lobby of a Broadway theater.

The midge is Miss Helen Magna. Since she found there wasn't even room enough for a midge in New York, Miss Magna said, she moved into the booth with an alarm clock, a tiny stove, a loaf of bread, a bottle of milk and a can of salmon.

It might have been a press agent's gag, but anyway she was forced to move again.

Wives Going Overseas Tackle Many Problems

The bustle of going away preparations filled 32 New England homes today as wives of American servicemen on occupation duty made ready to sail in three weeks to join them in Germany. The wives, many with small children, started the perplexing task of buying and packing enough necessary and scarce items to care for their families transplanted to an alien land for indefinite stays. There are 35 children in the 32 families, of which 22 are from Massachusetts and 13 from Greater Boston.

MRS. MARY SCHARDT, KATHLEEN, KAREN AND PAUL
Jamaica Plain Family to Join GI Overseas

They will be part of a group of 700 American families setting up family life with their husbands.

Of the 700 families, only 24 are headed by enlisted men. But the Army explained every enlisted man who asked for transportation for his family had been obliged, but most were waiting to learn their permanent billet and length of stay before filing applications.

Condensed milk is going to make up a large part of the household baggage of Mrs. Alan Harwood of Overlook rd., Arlington, whose son, Alan, Jr., is three months old.

"I know I'll have to give up a lot of the comforts I have with my family here. But it will be worth the sacrifice to be with my husband again. And he wrote me that he's fixed up nice quarters for us and so, after quite a discussion with my family I decided to go."

Scheduled for an overseas trip and reunion with the head of the family also are Mrs. Mary K. Schardt and her three children, of Robinwood ave., Jamaica Plain. She is taking Paul, 3; Karen, 2; and Kathleen, 8 months, to join their father, Capt. Henry Schardt.

From Gen. Mark Clark, commanding U. S. forces in Austria, Mrs. Frederick J. Bailey, Jr., of Ellison ave., Dorchester, received a letter telling her what to expect when she arrives with Frederick J. III. Her husband is a lieutenant colonel in Vienna and the son of Boston Health Commissioner and Mrs. Frederick J. Bailey.

An excellent description of the home she will occupy was given her in a telephone call from Frankfurt by her colonel husband, said Mrs. Paul Chambers of Tonawanda st., Dorchester. They have two children, Paul, 9, and Ann, 7.

"My husband wrote me there are no cows in Germany now now condemned for use by American families," said Mrs. Joseph Missal of Florence rd., Waltham.

"And we have had orders to buy enough clothes to last the entire time we are overseas. Imagine how I am going to figure out what sizes I'll need next year for those three growing youngsters of mine! But I'll play safe and get everything extra large, and if it doesn't fit one of them, it ought to fit the others." (Her children are Joseph, 4; William, 2, and Robert, 10 months.)

A weighty problem confronts Mrs. Stephen E. Gordy of Massachusetts ave., Cambridge, who will have to choose between cold food and a warm bed. Her husband is an Army captain.

"Steve warned me to get an electric refrigerator and plenty of bedclothes. And if I have to do without one or the other, I don't know which to pass up." She has a 650-pound baggage allowance.

So. End Man Held In Handbag Theft

Gaetano J. Vella, 24, of East Third st., South Boston, North End case musician, was held in $2000 bail today for hearing March 29 after pleading not guilty in Roxbury court to charges of an attempted criminal assault and larceny of a handbag containing $25.

Vella was arrested last night on a complaint signed by Mrs. Catherine Bryant, 21, of Francis st., Roxbury.

Reds Atom Wild

MOSCOW, March 27 (AP)—The house was sold out in advance and crowds stood in the snow trying vainly to buy tickets last night to a lecture by Scientist Jacob K. Sirkin on atomic energy.

The 3000 Muscovites, including many students, who got in heard the corresponding member of the Soviet Academy of Science declare atomic energy would be used in the future to provide power for industry "maybe not in five or 10 years but before very long."

Portia for a Day Still Loses Case

Personal scrutiny of the law books proved to be no help at all today to Bernice Walton, 44, of Westland ave., Back Bay, when she appeared in Roxbury District Court on complaints charging she drove an unregistered, improperly insured car.

Miss Walton, a Navy Yard worker since 1941, told the court the car was registered in Portland, Me. Judge Thomas B. Fitzpatrick, however, pointed out she has been living here for five years and is in reality a resident of this state. Miss Walton doubted the law and was invited by the court to look at the books.

She was found guilty on both counts and fined $20 for driving an unregistered car and $100 for driving an improperly insured car. She appealed and was held in $500.

4th Year of Wedlock Tops Middlesex Divorce Record

The fourth year of marriage is the most crucial, according to divorce statistics of Middlesex County for 1945, released today, which showed more divorces were granted in that category than in any other over a 15-year period. The figures, given out by Registrar of Probate Loring P. Jordan, also disclosed 2630 divorce suits were entered in 1945, an increase of 648 over 1944. Of the total, 1829 actions were disposed of, 245 more than in the previous year with 1321 divorces granted as against 1175 in 1944.

Father of 2 Shoots Self in Suicide Plan

Frank Bollino, 32, who was found lying on the bedroom floor in his mother's Stanton st., Mattapan, home yesterday with a bullet wound in the abdomen, was quoted by police today as confessing he had tried to end his life because of despondency over family difficulties.

Bollino's name is on the danger list at City Hospital. He was questioned there today by Sgt. Raymond Monahan of the homicide squad because of the shooting's mysterious aspects.

Monahan said Bollino's account of the shooting was that he had Nicholas Bollino Michael Bollino shot himself in the bedroom—then he left the house and drove around a while. He returned, went to the bedroom again and collapsed, the story went.

He was found by his sister, Madeline, to whom he gave the gun, he said. Bollino had a gash on the knuckles of one hand. He explained this to police by saying he had driven his hand through the window of his automobile. They found a window broken, the upholstery stained with blood.

Bollino's wife, Josephine, of Harrison ave., South End, told police she had not seen him for several days. They have two small children, Nicholas, 6, and Michael, 3.

sought freedom and 983 were released from their vows. The majority, 728, charged cruelty. Only 338 husbands brought successful suits and of these 141 charged cruelty, 144 desertion, 40 infidelity, and 13 intoxication. Fifty-six persons married less than one year were given divorces. In the fourth year 96 divorces were granted. From that period on the marriage vows appear more secure, with divorce requests tapering off.

Blonde's Naughty Verses Ban Show

A blonde entertainer with a store of spicy verses and a knack for bringing out their more subtle meanings with undulations of her veiled figure was blamed today for an order blacking out entertainment at the Hotel Bradford roof. The order goes into effect Friday, start of a new week in the hotel's show program, and will last indefinitely, it was announced by the Boston Licensing Commission.

Cause of the edict was an act by Jayne Manners, star of the floor show during the week ended last Thursday.

She appeared for only a week, but stories of her act circulated around town so fast that agents of the Watch and Ward and the licensing board reached the roof in time to catch her act.

According to Miss Mary E. Driscoll, chairman of the city board which licenses entertainment, the blonde recited verses which made her, at a rear table, blush.

"I've been around a long time, but I've never heard conversation as raw as that in any of our licensed premises. As old as I am, I don't want to repeat it," commented Miss Driscoll.

His Conscience Hurt; So Does $75 Fine

Harold L. Hilton, 25, of Riverside st., Saugus, picked a bad moment to report to Saugus police that he had been involved in a slight accident and it had been preying on his mind for 24 hours. In Lynn district court today Saugus police told Judge Ralph W. Reeve that the conscience-stricken Hilton arrived at the police station in his car about 1 a. m. today after an obviously long session with his conscience and a bottle. He was fined $75 on a charge of operating under the influence.

Dean Albers, Family Flee Fire in Home

Dean Homer Albers, 83, retired head of Boston University Law School, escaped without injury today when his bed at his home in Irving st., Brookline, was destroyed by fire which did $2500 damage to his home.

He aroused his wife and son, William, and two maids. Authorities said the fire apparently was started by a short circuit in an electric heating pad.

Britain Signs To Pay U. S. By Year 2002

WASHINGTON, March 27 (AP)—The United States and Great Britain today announced nine agreements for settling lend-lease and other wartime obligations, under which this country will be paid about $650,000,000 plus interest by New Year's Day, 2002.

A summary of the agreements:

- 2—Lists unsettled war claims, provides for waivers.
- 3—Transfers ownership of such stocks as food, lumber and steel held by civilian authority.
- 4—Does virtually the same thing as No. 3 for military supplies.
- 5—Gives Britain title to some lend-lease transport planes and permits leasing of others.
- 6—Defines the share of each country in oil stocks sent to the other under lend-lease or reciprocal aid.
- 7—Provides for transfer generally of U. S. installations on British territory to Britain and of British installations on American territory to this country.
- 8—Transfers to Britain, with some exceptions, U. S. Army and Navy surplus property in that country.
- 9—Provides each country will lift claims of citizens resulting from presence of troops of the other on its soil.

New Subway Loop Favored

A bill calling for an investigation as to the feasibility of removing the Elevated railway structure between Everett and Forest Hills was favorably reported today by the legislative committee on metropolitan affairs.

The measure also calls for a survey of the possibility of constructing a subway loop from Forest Hills through Everett, Malden, Medford, Somerville and Cambridge.

The survey, under terms of the bill sponsored by John P. Cahill, chairman of the Democratic state committee, would be made by the metropolitan planning board.

Stars and Stripes Staff Ask Release

ROME, March 27 (AP)—The entire staff of the Mediterranean Edition of the U. S. Army newspaper Stars and Stripes requested reassignment today after six weeks of struggle with Lt. Gen. John C. H. Lee, theater commander, over censorship of the servicemen's letters column.

Ex-Paratrooper on Flight To Dying Bride in England

Wracked by fear that he may be too late to reach the bedside of his dying war bride in England, ex-paratrooper Joseph Cananney, survivor of the 82nd Airborne Division which jumped into France on D-Day, left Boston today on the first lap of his transatlantic flight. Just before leaving his home in Taunton for Boston to get his passport visaed by the British consul, Joe was visibly affected by news that his wife, the former Winifred May "Pam" Howarth of Nottingham, Eng., was expected to sink into a coma at any time. "I pray God I may reach my darling Pam's side before that happens," he said.

Pam is suffering from a virulent type of anaemia brought on by her work during the war in defense plants, where she labored 60 hours a week on a deficient wartime diet.

She was taken ill shortly before Joe left England for home last December. Before leaving, he made arrangements with Red Cross officials to contact him immediately, if any adverse change in her condition developed.

Only last month she had seemed well enough to join him here and arrangements for her sailing were made. Then came the sad blow for Joe. The English Red Cross informed him that Pam had suffered a relapse and that her doctor had forbidden the sailing.

Heartsick after a later message reported that hope for her recovery was waning, Joe reacted joyously when a local Red Cross representative phoned him he could have accommodation on any Pan-American plane leaving New York for England as soon as he got his passport.

"I'm coming, Pam," he said softly as he boarded a Boston-New York plane.

The marriage of Joe and Pam followed a year's courtship during the paratrooper's pre-invasion training in England. A veteran of 29 parachute jumps, Joe holds the Bronze Star, Combat Infantryman's Badge, two Purple Hearts and five Battle Stars.

Chorus on Road To Her Degree

CHICAGO, March 27 (AP)—Callie Morris, former Georgia High School principal whose ambition is to be a stage director, is learning the business from the skin out. She is a show girl at the Rialto theater, home of Chicago burlesque.

Miss Morris, 23, has coached high school dramatic classes, taught social science and French, and worked as chemist's assistant.

She came to Chicago last year to attend night classes at Northwestern University toward a master's degree specializing in play production.

Three months ago she joined the chorus in an effort to further her ambitions.

"I was young and I was told to get in the line, because the producers wouldn't accept a punk without professional theatrical experience," she said.

But the former Kincon, Ga., girl is planning to leave the chorus and devote all her time to obtaining her degree.

"Four shows a day, seven days a week," sighed Miss Morris. "It's killing me."

100 Love Notes Win Her Divorce

Love letters received by her husband from other gals—lots of them—today won divorce in Suffolk Probate Court for Mrs. Pauline Rutstein of Ellington st., Roxbury, whose husband now has gone home to live in California.

The plaintiff told Judge Frederick J. Dillon that her husband, a discharged sailor, hit her with an ashtray when she discovered a love letter among his shaving materials. She said he told her if she was interested in his mail she could see 100 letters—and then tossed out the proof.

Mrs. Frances Robertson of Concord sq., South End, had her marriage to Forest Robertson, ex-Army sergeant, annulled after she testified he was married to a Butte, Mont., girl. She said she made the discovery after he came home from overseas without his medals.

"I sent them home to my wife," he said, according to her testimony. She added she checked up. Ex-Capt. Paul Dargon of St.

Germaine st., Back Bay, was granted a divorce on grounds of desertion from Pauline Dargon of Manchester, N. H., and Mrs. Gladys Callahan of Roxbury was freed from Cornelius J. Callahan of the South End on grounds of cruelty.

Two were caught at West Canton st., and Warren ave., as they fled with a woman's pocketbook containing $15. Under questioning they named three others of the gang.

They range from 13 to 15 years. Two were nabbed by Patrolmen Andrew O'Sullivan and Daniel O'Shea after they grabbed the handbag of Miss Mary Gillis of West Brookline st., South End. The victim jumped in a taxicab to go to headquarters to report the theft, but the boys were captured before she could get there.

They will be arraigned in juvenile court.

Retailers Oppose Liquor Tax Boost

Because liquor is cheaper in New Hampshire and Vermont, Massachusetts faces a bootlegging problem along the state borders, Samuel Silverman, counsel for the Retail Package Goods Ass'n, said today in opposing a bill to increase the Bay State liquor tax to $1.50 a gallon. He declared residents near state lines were buying large quantities in border states.

The present tax in Massachusetts is 40 cents a gallon, but additional "temporary" taxes bring the total to $1.45. The bill under consideration today would establish a basic permanent tax of $1 a gallon, the other 50 cents earmarked for the veterans' bonus.

Airforce of 200 Planes for N. E.

A National Guard air force with more than 200 planes was in the making today for New England.

Col. Louis E. Boutwell of Malden is in command of the organization, assigned first priority by the War Department in the post-war reorganization of the National Guard.

The 51st Fighter Wing of the Air National Guard will be located in New England. Massachusetts' units would have 1505 officers and men. The 51st Fighter Wing would be made up of returned veterans of World War II. Mission of the wing is to provide the Army air forces with a first line reserve which could be expanded rapidly to war time strength. The wing would be able to furnish units for immediate service anywhere in the world.

Georgia, chairman of the House committee on un-American activities, announced in Washington after a secret session today.

Wood refused to connect the committee with Redin's arrest. Wood said an investigator would go to Ottawa in the next ten days or two weeks to confer with Canadian authorities in an effort to determine whether there is any link between the Canadian spy ring case and the committee's investigation in this country.

Seattle newsmen had a brush with Redin 11 days ago when the tanker Puente Hills arrived with survivors of the wreck of the Russian tanker Donbass.

The reporters swarmed aboard the ship for interviews. Redin snapped an order in Russian and the women members of the crew scurried to their cabins and the men refused to talk.

U. S. S. Yellowstone Is New Type Ship

SEATTLE, March 27 (AP)—The USS Yellowstone, which figured prominently last night when Lt. Nicolai Redin was arrested in Portland, Ore., on espionage charges, is at Bangor, Wash., on Puget Sound, the 13th naval district said today.

The Navy has described the Yellowstone as a new type of destroyer tender and termed it a "floating navy yard" capable of fixing anything from "ship's boilers to a stop watch."

It was the longest ship ever built in a Seattle yard, with a length of 514 feet and a gross tonnage of 13,000 tons. The Yellowstone was launched April 12, 1945, commissioned Jan. 15 and made a shakedown cruise to San Diego.

A 3-year enlistment in the Regular Army means that you can choose your arm or branch of service and your overseas theater. It means thorough training in one of over 200 skilled trades. And it means that, under the GI Bill of Rights, you will be able to complete your education when your term of enlistment is up. You can get the complete details, without obligation, at your nearest Army Recruiting Station.

"Was I WRONG, back in 1946!"

1. "World War II was no picnic for me. That was seven years ago, and I'll never forget how hard we all worked down at the tannery. It was no soft job. But the pay was better than I'd ever made before.

2. "We didn't spend much because many things we needed were scarce. Lots of things you could get cost more than they were worth. We made all of our own repairs around the house. So we saved up a real nest egg.

3. "Those were the days when I really learned to save. I piled up a nice bit of money in the savings account, and I bought War Bonds regularly with the extra cash. I added more life insurance, too.

4. "We needed plenty of things by the time the war was over. Some people went out and bought everything in sight before there was enough to go around. We took it easy, at first—then we weakened, too!

5. "That's how our savings went, almost before we realized it. If we'd only gone slow, we could have gotten by until things were plentiful again, and we'd still have a backlog, today. Was I WRONG, back in 1946!"

Life Insurance Companies in America

and their agents

... to cooperate with our government in preserving the financial health of the nation

BUT IT IS STILL 1946. If we use our savings wisely now, we can help to avoid inflationary price increases . . . and at the same time maintain backlogs for the kind of future we all desire. If we spend our money carelessly now, we may look back some day with regret.

During the war, millions of Americans saved to protect their families, to educate their children, to start a business of their own, to own their own home, to retire. Today they are still following the advice of our Government, buying only what they really need until civilian goods are plentiful; buying and holding on to their Government Bonds and life insurance, and maintaining their savings accounts. Are you one of them?

America's life insurance companies are sponsoring this program of information as a public service to the 71,000,000 owners of life insurance and to every American citizen.

Court Finds 'Answer Man' Isn't Infallible, Frees Girl

Charles Forester, "The Answer Man," of radio renown, apparently didn't have the right answer in municipal court today, for a young brunette night club photographer whom he identified as the driver of an automobile involved in a crash was found not guilty.

Judge Elias Shamon decided she was not the driver at all. Thus Mrs. Joan Tribble, 20, of Groton st., South End, walked out of court freed of charges she had driven under the influence and without a license.

Mrs. Tribble had pleaded guilty only to a charge of drunkenness. This was filed.

A cab driver, Edward P. Nugent of Carruth st., Dorchester, said he was sitting in his cab in Tremont st., at 2:20 a. m., March 20, when an automobile collided with another cab, then struck him. He said he got out and saw a woman behind the wheel of the auto.

Then, said Nugent, two men ran up and each declared he was the driver.

Forester identified Mrs. Tribble as the driver, he having peered into the car and saw her with his own eyes, he said. But then three men ran up and each said he was the driver, he added.

Louis Gallanaro of Moulton st., Somerville, owner of the car, told Judge Shamon he was the driver.

Two of Mrs. Tribble's colleagues in the night club photography profession, Miss Anne Micelotti and Mrs. Joanne O'Doherty, both of Townsend st., Roxbury, said Mrs. Tribble positively was not the driver and that Gallanaro was telling the very truth.

In finding Mrs. Tribble not guilty, Judge Shamon told her young mother to be out nevertheless, it was no hour for a around.

Smart Set Guest of Honor at Tea

By BETTY ALDEN

CELEBRATING HER SPRING VACATION from Smith College Janet Ballou of Wellesley will be guest of honor at a tea given by her mother, Mrs. H. Starr Ballou, at the Wellesley Country Club Friday afternoon.

Mrs. Dudley Harmon will head the pourers who are the Misses Suzanne LaCroix, Barbara Leonard, Mary Elizabeth Morrill, Marian Young, Margaret Taylor and Flavia Pediconi, a Smith classmate and house guest of the Ballous.

NOTES FROM A SOCIETY EDITOR'S CUFF: A lot of good-natured teasing is going on between the Edward Iselins (Ada Dewson) of Milton over which one of them will receive the most applause to-night at the Milton Woman's Club. They are both in the east of the Milton Players' production of "Return Engagement." Ada is experienced in amateur dramatics but this is Ed's first fling behind the footlights.

Mr. and Mrs. Gardner C. Turner are having enthusiastic help with spring farming at Seward Mountain Farm, East Sullivan, N. H. Their nephew, Bobby Kennard of Newton Center, and several of his classmates are visiting them for spring vacation and working on the sugaring off and early planting.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Ames Royce, who have been in Seattle during the war, have arrived in the East and are visiting his sister, Mrs. Francis Hill of Dedham, until their beautiful Millis estate "Spring Meadows Farm" is re-decorated and ready for occupancy. Their daughter Margaret has just joined the ranks of future brides with announcement of her engagement to Ensign Alan Kimball Porter, USNR, of Brookline. She is a cousin of Mrs. Frederick Carr (Mary Baker) of Weston who was married last fall. Mrs. Parker Hayden of Brook-

Lally Charges Curley Ouster, Plans Court Plea

Eugene F. Lally of South Boston, for several years chairman of the Boston Board of Real Estate Commissioners, charged today that Mayor Curley has secretly appointed two deputy commissioners in moving to depose Lally from his $2600-a-year Civil Service post in the same department.

Records in the city auditor's office showed that on March 20, Curley named Henry J. Ryan, of Exeter st., Back Bay, and Frank D. Fennessy, of Glade ave., Jamaica Plain, as deputy commissioners at annual salaries of $3500 each, plus $200 to each as emergency compensation.

Lally stated that he relinquished his custodian's post in the department to serve as board chairman and when the term of that job expired he was legally entitled to be reappointed to his former position.

"I have applied to the State Civil Service Commission for a hearing and will carry this case to the courts if necessary. Curley has been most unfair in this."

Lally also revealed that he had asked for an audit in the city real estate department and city officials confirmed that an audit already is in progress.

After going to work for two weeks on a Curley promise to re-instate him in his custodian's post, Lally said he was informed by Irving Lewis, president chairman of the Board of Real Estate Commissioners that he was "all through."

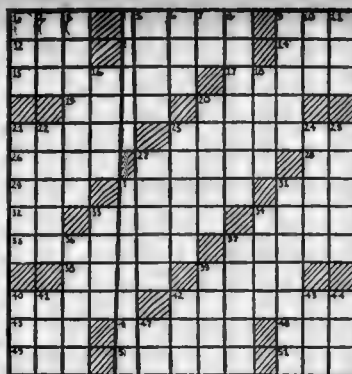

Ryan and Fennessy, the newly named deputy commissioners, reported for work today. Ryan, well known in political circles, won fame as "Sailor" Ryan, a Liberty bond campaigner during World

AN IMPORTANT OBSERVANCE

CITING 170,000 deaths from cancer last year in the United States, President Truman has set aside April as Cancer Control Month.

"The control of the disease," he said, "requires that the individual shall be on the alert to discover early signs of the disease and seek medical diagnosis; that the medical profession shall be prepared to render adequate preventive, diagnostic and treatment services; that adequate diagnostic and treatment facilities shall be available to all citizens; and that research shall be carried on to increase our knowledge of the disease and thereby improve our present methods of treatment and discover new methods."

Education is important and necessary in any cancer campaign, for the disease is often eradicated in its early stages.

Better and more encouraging of course would be a POSITIVE CURE, which we might have had long ago if some of the exalted men of science had been as resourceful in devising ways of prolonging human life as they were in fashioning weapons for its destruction.

BETTER SCHOOLS

NEW YORK school teachers meeting at Columbia University, are investigating the possibilities of educational motion pictures.

Similar research might well be undertaken in Massachusetts and the other New England States.

A dry and badly written textbook does not mean much to the average child—certainly not so much as the single showing of a film accurately depicting such memorable events as the signing of the Declaration of Independence, the reading of the Proclamation of Emancipation or the battles of the Revolutionary, Civil and World wars.

It may be that our educators lack imagination and ingenuity, but it is apparent to any impartial observer that teaching methods have improved very little in the past century and that, in many instances, the quality of the instruction in the million-dollar plants is inferior to that of the little red school on the crossroads.

RIGHTEOUS ANGER

WAR VETERAN organizations are reported to be aroused and angered by a disclosure by the Massachusetts Committee on Postwar Adjustment that, while thousands of former servicemen are seeking employment, farmers have asked the Federal Government to import large numbers of Jamaicans to work in gardens and orchards throughout the State during the summer.

The indignation is fully justified.

Whatever work is available on farms belongs to the lads who fought and won the war and made it possible for Americans to own gardens and orchards and not be slaves of a tyranny like Nazi Germany or Soviet Russia.

THE SOLUTION

THE GOVERNOR, Lieutenant-Governor, leaders of both political parties and thousands of persons interested in progress and prosperity have endorsed the pending legislation for a garage under Boston Common.

Let us have this essential project without further delay.

Traffic congestion in Boston is the worst in the entire country, as the New York Times and other reputable authorities have reported.

A year hence, when there are fewer parking lots and twice as many automobiles, conditions will be infinitely worse.

The garage is the key to the SOLUTION of the traffic problem, and for that good reason, no person who wants the city to grow and the State to thrive can honestly oppose it.

ABOVE IS an excerpt from one of the more than 300 sonnets inspired by the author's love for a blonde named Laura who was married to another man. These are said to be the greatest of all love sonnets. The love inspiring them was one-sided. Laura loved her husband. She was the mother of 10 children. Only one out of five married couples in the United States utilizes twin beds. Such is the claim of the American Institute of Family Relations which recently has made an extensive research on the subject. This should be very interesting to furniture companies. Whether or not a couple uses twin beds has probably small relation to the extent of their married happiness.

OVER THERE: In Great Britain there are schools devoted exclusively to training young people for married life. In these schools no detail is overlooked in the effort to make the graduates Grade A matrimonial mates. For example, there is a course for the future husband which trains him how to be a handy man around the house. This includes instruction in elementary repairing of gas and electric appliances. Also a short course in plumbing. Imagine having a husband who knows what to do until the plumber comes. It's truly colossal.

THESE DAYS

THE PROLONGED ABSENCE OF Mr. Justice Jackson from the United States does this country no good. As the prosecutor of senile Nazis, Mr. Jackson may be exercising considerable legalis ingenuity, but the Supreme Court calendar is loaded with cases that have to wait until it is possible again to have 5-4 decisions.

Apparently 4-4 decisions are no good. The court can, of course, function if it has a 5-3 decision or a 6-2 decision.

But when the court divides evenly, the unfortunate American involved in the case has to wait until Justice Jackson gets through with G. G. Hess, et al.

Perhaps he will then come home, as the New York State Bar Ass'n suggests, cease to deprive the justices "of the leaping and work" of the absent member.

The Supreme Court is usually hord among Americans as a body apart in the whirl and worry of immediate politics. It is supposed to be aloof.

Appointment to the Supreme Court is been regarded as the highest honor it can come to a lawyer, and Presidents usually have avoided appointing to a court lawyers who would bestow no honor upon it.

MR. ROOSEVELT took Mr. Justice Roberts from the bench to investigate Pearl Harbor. Mr. Roberts' report has been a subject of controversy since he sued it.

The Congressional investigation of the Pearl Harbor surprise attack gave the impression either that Mr. Justice Roberts was a nodding investigator or that he placed the will of the President above its full and precise truth.

Then Mr. Justice Byrnes found the bern tiresome, so Mr. Roosevelt took him off and made him the head of one of those controversial "C" administrative bodies which confused us during the war and since.

Finally, Mr. Byrnes landed the post of Secretary of State, having failed to become Vice President.

So Mr. Jackson was taken off the bench to become a prosecutor under a juridical theory of collective guilt alien to the American concept of the rights and dignity of the individual man.

It is a pity, because Mr. Justice Jackson is a lawyer of quality who will all his life have to live down the very bad law of Nuernberg.

Some Americans, Republicans, Communists, generals and admirals might fear to appear before Mr. Jackson lest he apply some of the curious doctrines and procedures he employs at Nuernberg to them.

THE NEW YORK Bar Ass'n asks a few pertinent questions on the subject:

"Is it not desirable, also, that a man who accepts appointment to the Supreme Court be required to lay aside every other ambition? If a judge is dreaming of future offices, is not his judgment likely to be impaired—human nature being what it is?"

"Is it too much to ask of a lawyer who takes his place upon that exalted bench that he not again hold public office?"

"Pension is available for the retired justice and, of course, a justice should be entitled, if he quits the bench, to practice law."

"But would it be too much to ask, in the interests of the highest standards of the judiciary, that he look not to other office during or after his services on the Supreme Court?"

The questions are not at all bad. They might be answered by several justices now on the bench.

For instance, every time a top job in Washington is opened up by somebody being kicked out, a ferocious propaganda is hurled at the American people for Mr. Justice Douglas to get the job.

It is because of all this that the aforesaid Bar Ass'n proposes this amendment to the Constitution:

"No justice of the Supreme Court of the United States shall during his term hold any other public office or perform any other function in behalf of the Federal Government, or of any State or other governmental entity; nor shall he after his term hold any public office or perform any function in behalf of the Federal Government, or of any State or other governmental entity."

Hollywood Today

By Louella O. Parsons

HOLLYWOOD, March 27—Out at Universal they think Dan Duryea is a you-know-what of an actor—and so do I. He is so good I know people who actually hate him because of the roles he plays on the screen such as the gigolo in "Scarlet Street."

In order to counteract this, "U" fast-talked Dan into signing up for two pictures a year in which he will play character leads with a sympathetic angle and for the first time he will be starred, or co-starred. His first picture is already on tap and ready to go and it is

Bing Crosby

"The Black Angel," a novel by Cornell Woolrich. Dan plays a gent called "Heartbreak" which gives you a rough idea of how he'll soften up. At one time he swore he would never sign a contract with one studio—but this two picture deal permits him to accept deals on the outside.

ONE OF the most shocking stories ever broadcast was the flat statement that The Associated Press had put so much stock in reports of Bing Crosby's poor health that they had ordered his obituary brought up to date. I have checked this with AP and they brought 20 biographies up to date, Bing's among the rest. Crosby, I am sure you will be glad to know, is in the pink and is busy huddling with Eddie Sutherland about the cast of his next independent production, "Abie's Irish Rose." Eddie and Bing have just signed Georgie Stone for the fat role of Cohen, pal of Solomon (played by Michael Chekhov). It's not unlike the part George played in "Cimarron"—his first big hit.

I KNOW SEVERAL top girls who were right on the verge of signing to play Sophie in "The Razor's Edge" and backed out. You know why? Because they didn't want to buck Gene Tierney, who has proved herself such a whale of an actress. Furthermore, 20th is getting back of Gene with all their might. But Anne Baxter saw the possibilities of the Sophie role, which is really dramatic, since Sophie starts out as a gorgeous girl with the world at her feet and ends up practically in the gutter. When Anne agreed to do the picture, she also signed a new seven-year contract with Darryl Zanuck, who, after looking over all the tests, decided Anne could do it. I personally feel Anne had been slipping a little the last year, but Sophie undoubtedly is just what she needs to bring her back.

THE MOST sought-after comedy vehicle in years, "Are You With It?" written by Jack Benny's writers, Sam Perrin and George Balzer, will fall into Sam Bishop's lap. He's got the inside track in a deal that's all but closed. The price is $200,000 plus a percentage of the gross, which, considering what other Broadway hits have brought—some not as popular as this—is not too exorbitant, I suppose. Today, in confirming the story, Mr. Bishop said he hasn't yet settled on a release, so that means it may be Columbia for whom he's been making pictures—or it may not.

CHATTER IN HOLLYWOOD: Saw Estelle Taylor dining with Jack Dempsey and the two children. Little Barbara Dempsey, the younger of Jack's children, was hanging on to Estelle's arm for dear life. The two Dempsey girls adore their father's former wife, and I still say that one of these days Jack and Estelle will remarry. There has never been any other girl really for Jack, and I believe the spark is still there as far as she is concerned. Jack is moving back to New York to become public relations counsel to the Adams Hat Co. and to take over his new television job.

IT'S GETTING to be an every-day occurrence for one of our important stars to go into the producing business. There's gold in them thar hills where producing is concerned—much more money than remaining an actor under contract to one studio. Edward G. Robinson is the latest actor to become a producer. He has joined forces with Sol Lesser in the formation of the Film Guild Company and will produce pictures with Eddie as the star. They are now negotiating for several properties. This will not keep Eddie from acting or Sol from doing his outside producing.

SNAPSHOTS OF HOLLYWOOD COLLECTED AT RANDOM: Clark Gable is in Phoenix and so is Dolly O'Brien. Maybe the spark isn't cold between them—or is it just a beautiful coincidence? Joan Fontaine, who has been tres incommunicado, finally put in an appearance at the Stephen Ames party with RKO executive Bill Dozier; such a hectic week-end! Parties galore. Went to the dinner given by Ty Fower and Annabella for Mrs. Vincent Aster, Minnie, as her friends call her, looked stunning and has certainly had a whirl in our town. She told me that she and Annabella were going to Film Springs to meet Vincent and to rest. Just as we were leaving the Powers, Nancy Oakes de Marigny arrived with Jack Hemmaway, son of the noted author. I have seldom, if ever, seen more beautiful pawns than were worn by the female guests. Joan Bennett in the palest of blue, trimmed in scarlet, and Merle Oberon in a gown of Burgundy with a blue sash, looked particularly stunning. Recky and Gary Cooper were among the guests, so were Cary Grant, Frances Giddaway, Pat and Charles Boyer, the Rine Clairs, John Huston and the Richard Barthelmesses. Dick and Jessie have just bought a house in Beverly Hills. Annabella's little mother, who went through so much in France during the war, completely captivated all of us. She is trying so hard to learn English.

JANE WYMAN wore her wedding gown at the birthday party she and Ronald Reagan gave for Joan Crawford. Guess the Corney Jackson-Virginia Bruce romance is cold. He was at the Reagans' with Gail Patrick. Ann Southern sat with the Jack Bennys and Cesar Romero. All her friends are rallying around her. Mal and Ray Milland called her from New York and they are returning here in a week to get some clothes before they go to Rio; Mrs. Neil McCarthy is moving to New York. She has rented the palatial McCarthy home there. Her children are married and she told me at the Eddie Love cocktail party for Thelma Furness, that she now felt free to do as she wants to do. That's all today. See you tomorrow.

WASHINGTON, March 27—Mr. George Wood, the eminent theatrical producer, was in Florida last week and wished to get back to New York. But he discovered railroads and airlines were not eager to ply him with reservations.

He mentioned this to a big industrialist who said: "It just so happens I can help you out. My firm took out a plane reservation last week because we thought we might need it."

"We were not sure who would be using it," added the industrialist. "So we took it out in a fictitious name. But you are welcome to it if you do not mind traveling as someone else."

Mr. Wood said he would travel as a St. Bernard dog if necessary, and even carry a cask of brandy under his chin. All he wanted to do was get back to New York because he had some actors he wished to put in their place.

However, Mr. Wood was given a royal send-off party. Sugar morsels had practically set in by the time he was carried to the plane.

He believes he was somewhere over the Carolinas and sleeping soundly when the pretty hostess shook him awake. She asked his name, and Mr. Wood, who is the soul of candor in such matters, mumbled the answer.

He returned to sleep but again was shaken awake. "I'm sorry," apologized the young lady, "but there is no Mr. Wood on this ship."

The impresario thought this over gravely and said:

"That explains it, then. I must have missed the plane."

The hostess, apparently a skeptical type, was not satis-

bum—er Mr. Dixon—how you feel about conditions, coming and going."

"Well," said Mrs. Canzoneri, "I am for Henry Wallace. I think he is wonderful."

Mr. Wood inquired what qualities in the Secretary of Commerce excited the lady's admiration and Mrs. Canzoneri replied: "He is for the people." "That is very interesting," said Mr. Wood. "And now tell droopy drawers here—I mean Mr. Dixon—just what politician you know who do not say they are for the people!"

Mrs. Canzoneri ducked that one as if it had been a right cross and said Wallace would be better than Truman because Henry would "try to appease capital and labor and get them together."

Mrs. Wood started to ask if that wasn't what Truman was trying to do now, but Mrs. Canzoneri suddenly remembered leaving Tony in the showers and said she had to hurry home to bail him out.

A YOUNG FELLOW named Ted Ashley, who refers to himself modestly as the "boy genius" came in and announced, without preamble, that he is against everything I stand for, politically and otherwise. "I take it that you are a constant reader?" said Mr. Wood. "No," replied Mr. Ashley, "I never read a line he ever wrote. I can tell just by looking at him."

A FELLOW whom I will not identify burst in and yelled he was being driven daffy by the gripings and beefs of Xavier Cugat, the band leader.

"Know what I'm going to do to that Cugat?" howled the incensed gentleman. "I am going to steal his troupe and hold it for ransom!"

I TELL YOU, a day with Mr. Wood is very educational.

Boston After Dark

EXCLUSIVE: The United States marshal's office is issuing subpoenas to officers and directors of leading coal companies in the Greater Boston area . . . Returnable April 4, the official papers are part of an investigation, under the anti-trust (Sherman) act, of alleged acts by various important coal suppliers in price-control and fixing . . . A high elected official in Massachusetts is a director of one of the coal companies under fire.

CHARLES E. MANION, a Curley supporter of long standing and a member of the Boston street commission, is filing nomination papers for the office of Clerk of Suffolk Superior Court . . . William G. Prendible is the incumbent . . . Theodore A. Glynn, Jr., son of the clerk of Roxbury District Court, has returned from service as an officer in the Navy . . . Young Teddy, whose father has been a Curley adviser for years and years, is debating whether to run for city or state office.

ANOTHER ITEM about the active young generation of well known families is the return to civilian life of former Lt. Com. Francis W. Juggins, son of Francis Juggins, the ranking O. P. lawyer . . . Young Francis has been awarded a third Bronze Star for meritorious service in action aboard the carrier U.S.S. Hancock . . . The newest award came in consideration of combat conduct off Tokyo between July 10 and 15, 1944 . . . Former Com. Juggins is an insurance adjuster, specializing in marine and airplane insurance.

NARRAGANSETT'S POLICY of giving New England horse-owners and breeders first consideration in allocating stalls for the coming race-meeting will find high favor . . . Judge James E. Dooley, president of the Pawtucket track, intends to make sure that the move will be "policy" and not merely publicity . . . With Billy Ames, the public relations counsel of "Gansett, at the helm of his department, the public can depend on the truth of what it reads from an official Narragansett source. A major headache at all New England race tracks in past seasons has been the complaint of local owners that barn-space for their horses is harder to secure than a family loan from Gloria Vanderbilt Stokowski.

A BOSTON SHOE dealer, prominent in the support of New Deal measures in spite of his standing as a capitalist, was on the receiving end of a merciless "rib" in Washington the night of the $100-a-plate Jackson Day Dinner . . . Orchids, full course dinners, gallons of liquor and meaningless telegrams were delivered to his suite—al.c.o.d. . . Two pseudo-members of the "Secret Service" next put in an appearance . . . The unhappy New Dealer's room and luggage was searched quite thoroughly.

WHEN A BOTTLE of sleeping pills was found in the Bostonian's suitcase, the stern "sleuths" placed him under arrest . . . They relented, at last, and left the room after refusing all offered hospitality and the pleas of the victim that they "go easy" . . . The real action began when the howlers left the man's room . . . The victim suddenly recalled that he himself had political influence and "connections."

SOON, HIS SAD story was being heard by some men high in government . . . Washington was in a minor uproar for an hour or two . . . When no record of the incident could be found, the Boston New Dealer was feeling worse than he might have been had the search of his room—and the seizure of his sleeping pills—been on the level . . . He then had on his conscience the concern that comes of asking an important favor from friends in high places—for no reason at all.

THE "SLEUTHS" meantime were regaling mutual friends of themselves and their victim with stories of the New Dealer's plea to be permitted to keep a few of his precious sleeping pills . . . He really needed them that night—and the next.

RECOMMENDED: Lena's "late spot" in Massachusetts avenue, where the spaghetti is perfect and the steaks (with button mushrooms) as edible as if there were no "black market" in beef . . . And Bert Wheeler, the wonderful little clown whom time and the years seem to improve. At the Keith-Boston (final day).

Since they first became the nation's No. 1 comedy team, the butterball buffoon and his lank bell-fitter have not been spotted so advantageously. Independence on bewhiskered gag routines and punching-bag comedy technique with the roundman taking it as the human punching-bag had long dulled the luster of these bright boys up from burlesque

As befits his roly-poly highness, Costello is handsomely spotlighted to corner the audience's sympathy and laughs. His bland bumpkin, whose path to success is paved with well-intentioned boners, is a credible sympathetic characterization.

This tiger success-story is well-larded with laughs, with the sequence showing the generously upholstered Costello trying to unfreeze in an upper berth clogging the most chuckles.

Director William A. Seiter's comedy-wise skill in recharging the Abbott-Costello comedy team before their repetitious comedy releases had lost them their box-office preeminence rates a deep laugh from the wisest.

TULSA, Okla., March 27 (AP)—A pig's drunken lurch down a suburban road led Sheriff's Deputies Roy Vaden and Burnie Brown to a 55-gallon still and 1100 gallons of mash.

'Judy O'Connor' Dull at Copley

By PEGGY DOYLE

"Judy O'Connor," the Copley's new tenant, has one more character than the Plymouth's four-month-old best-seller.

When your play-reporter mentions "Judy O'Connor" in the same typewriting with the blithe and beguiling "Voice of the Turtle" it is only to point up their unalike-ness. They are, from us to you, as far apart as Orson Welles and Rita Hayworth.

This one by Andrew Solt and Frank Ross, which Screen Producer Ross presented last night at the uptown house, is a dull, detailed diagram on how to lose the girl in three scenes and four acts.

Hollywood's Don De Fore, a Grade-A dreamboat in any bobby-soxer's lexicon, and William Prince, in the forefront as one of the younger leading men of stage and screen, are two parts of the Copley's love quadrangle.

An audible, collective gasp that had in it all the pentup adulation of a Sinatra swoon, greeted the stalwart, engaging De Fore's first appearance on stage last night. Only slightly less idolatrous . . . because his is the more selective Broadway rather than the far-flung Hollywood following . . . was the welcome accorded Prince.

This "in" with the paying customers has no assist from the script's collaborators, whose most engaging character, an off-stage French girl, rates neither salary nor an Equity membership.

In their inept play, De Fore's overseas radio commentator acts the goon on his first night home. Making a face-saving confession of unfaithfulness, he tells his little-girl wife that his love is d-e-a-d.

Before he gets around to this clumsy recital, she is being more arch and wide-eyed than Claudia. After he gets it off his conscience, the cast's fourth member, a tediously ubiquitous neighbor and partner in the wife's baby-clothes designing business, persists tirelessly in vocally nudging him into the no-called doghouse. The audience laughed and laughed ad nauseum (This is an advt.)

Anne Sargent enacts the wife

A Sharp Deal

DALLAS, Tex., March 27 (AP)—Mrs. Coe Scruggs, in search of a sirloin steak, found her butcher idle behind an empty meat counter.

"Since you have no meat and can't use it, why not sell me your knife?" she asked.

It was a deal, and Mrs. Scruggs has the knife—and no meat.

with embarrassing archness. Olga the play wore on and on may be attributed to a graceless characterization in the scripting rather than in performance. Only the persuasive Prince's playing had authority, if intermittent. The cast, to sum it up, need a play.

Bagpipe Sleeve New for Spring—Eta

THE LIFE of a clear-eyed, smart American woman . . . today's "doer" . . . is reflected in this rich brown and white new striped rayon twill that has all the beauty of a heavy tie silk. Designed by Eta to give sheathlike slimness to the figure . . . it is an artistic achievement in stripes belittling the "President Madame President" personality.

LACE-LIKE designed black and white print fashions this spring-into-summer favorite by Eta . . . an ensemble of dress and jacket for a silhouette that accents wide shoulders, whittles the waistline and focuses attention on the new bagpipe sleeve.

ADVICE to the tall woman to wear this and to the short woman not to wear that can be laid to rest with a brief suggestion. Always wear clothes that are scaled to your proportion, and that really fit. Not almost fit, but actually fit properly.

Of course this theory cannot be of much help to the woman who finds herself a perfectly upholstered 46 after too many gorgeous desserts, nor to the woman who measures six feet two inches in her stockings because her pituitary gland went astray.

But the normal American figure, whether tall, medium, or short can wear similar styles if correctly scaled to her proportion.

For Spring I have chosen three outfits that not only can be worn by all three figures, but by the simple addition or subtraction of the right accessories can be used

Eta

By RUTH MUGGLEBEE
Beauty and Fashion Editor

TODAY'S WOMANLY woman is far from the club-woman, platform type of yore. Therefore the clothes she wears must be clothes for active duty . . . functional and elegant . . . but never static or stately. Feminine, yes . . . but not "faddy."

Every American woman has today become a "doer." She has the executive viewpoint whether she is administering her own great fortune . . . or goes out to earn her daily bread. She has it whether she organizes her whole community as Madame President . . . or whether she is the shyest member sitting in the rear of a meeting of the Parent-Teachers Association.

And clothes play an important part in this executive viewpoint feeling, says Eta who enjoys a nationwide reputation for the creation of superbly graceful and dignified clothes for women . . . in a field that formerly produced the pudgy, unflattering clothes that are quickly associated with a resigned middle age.

The American woman has learned to serve, Eta says, and her clothes must reflect the life of a clear-eyed, smart American . . . her individuality, her efficiency, her distinctive beauty. She must wear clothes that fit right into her busy life . . . not sensational, but simple-lined silhouettes. She must wear clothes that are proportioned correctly and stay clear of clothes that do not fit however ultra-ultra they may be.

Subdued elegance is more becoming to the womanly woman than raucous high style. Fashion is not accidental. It is created out of the needs, the moods and the happenings to women.

How to Balance The Meal

By MARTHA LEE
Household Editor

THIS SEASON of the year meals frequently take on a rather uninteresting and colorless aspect. Fruits and vegetables are limited in variety, and meat and even fish are difficult to obtain. But whatever you serve for the main dish, one thing is certain—a good dessert will go a long way toward convincing the family that the meal is just what they wanted. You know when you end up with a tasty dessert, you have that satisfied feeling that minimizes any shortcomings the meal may have had.

Desserts have their place in the diet, too, for frequently they help balance the meal. These days, with good protein rather difficult to obtain, the dessert may often make up the deficiency. Don't let the fact that sugar is scarce deter you from making desserts for your family. Many a recipe that serves 4 to 6 people requires only ½ cup of sugar or less. The list includes such tried and true favorites as custard, floating island, fruit pudding, rice pudding, blanc mange, Spanish cream and many kinds of cakes and cookies.

BAKED CUSTARD

3 eggs, slightly beaten
3 tbsp. sugar
½ tsp. salt
3 cups milk
Nutmeg

Combine slightly beaten eggs, sugar, salt, and milk, and stir until sugar is dissolved. Pour into custard cups, sprinkle with nutmeg, and place cups in pan of hot water. Bake in moderate oven (375 deg. F.) until set, about 25 minutes. The custard will be cooked when mixture does not adhere to knife when inserted. Cool quickly by placing cups in cold water. Makes 6 custards.

Italian Marriage Customs Sought

DEAR MISS FAIRFAX:

I am planning to get married soon, and we both come from old Italian families.

There seems to be a little mixup on such matters as who buys the bride's wedding gown, bride's going-away outfit, and who should stand up for the bride and groom. Some have told me that the closest friends of the bride and groom should stand up with them, or is it proper for the sister of the bride and the brother of the groom to stand up?

I also would like to know whether it is proper for members of the family or close friends to be godparents in the event of children.

There is no difference between Italian and American bridal customs so far as buying the bride's clothes is concerned, or in the matter of who the bridal attendants shall be. The bride always buys her own wedding gown and going-away outfit, and she and the groom can choose whom they like to attend them.

In the matter of godparents, Italian custom is to invite an aunt from one side of the family and an uncle from the other side. That is, the aunt of either the mother or father acts as godmother, and the uncle of either is godfather. The idea is that each side of the family should be represented.

She walks in beauty who follows the advice Ruth Mugglebee writes every day in the Daily Record.

How to Banish Unruly Hair

By RUTH MUGGLEBEE

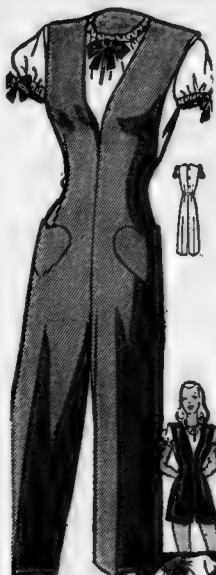

Beauty and Fashion Editor
THERE IS A MARVELOUS new cream wax which removes hair quickly and pleasantly . . . leaving the affected area alabaster smooth and soft. It discourages future growth . . . and one treatment will last a long time.

This creamy, non-caking substance . . . which doesn't have to be applied hot . . . and is without any much-to-do fussiness . . . exerts an amazing strength in removing all superfluous hair from the follicle out. After such a treatment . . . the makers claim it will take hair 45 times longer to grow in.

This cream wax contains no sulphide or chemical, or any other caustic ingredient . . . and is made of the purest ingredients. The formula contains about 80 per cent honey and other specially prepared clear and natural materials to produce the distinctive feature of this preparation . . . its extreme and amazing tenacity. And, it is so inexpensive.

It spreads like butter after absorbing the warmth of the fingertips . . . and should be applied in a thin layer. Then place a piece of unstarched cloth over the cream and press it on firmly.

For the name of this hair-removing cream wax, phone the Beauty Dept., LIBerty 4000, or write me, care of the Boston Evening American, inclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Word From the AMVET: The New Veteran Speaks

By AUSTEN LAKE

THIS IS UNFINISHED BUSINESS. Last month before flying to Rome and odd points of the European compass I promised the Amvets of Massachusetts equal voice in presenting their case as I did the VFWs and American Legion. My hope is to keep a unity of spirit and action between all Veterans and to forestall the possibility of political rifts.

If the veterans, alumni of whatever wars, form a brotherhood of mutual purpose, they can make the greatest social force of our time. But if they break down in internecine spats, jealousies and contests for monopoly, they will cancel each other out and expend their energies at cross purposes.

So take the forum, J. Ralph Granara, PRO of the Mass. Amvets, and tell the good people of your aims.

The "Voiceless" Speak
GRANARA NOW SPEAKS
—We Amvets have no quarrel with any contemporary vet organization. Merely as graduates of the most violent catastrophe in world history, we ask the same opportunity to establish our identity as had the vets of the Civil, Spanish-American and World War I.

"We pledge ourselves to cooperate with all other U. S. veteran groups for mutual good and to preserve the American ideal for which we fought and which we sincerely believe gives us a bigger investment in the future of this greatest nation on earth than those who never knew the despair and miseries of combat or of being the great voiceless mass of American soldiery.

"As you, Austen, have put it, we were so long 'submerged in the vast anonymity' of the service, so 'compressed into a rigid mold' and so 'separated from individuality' that now we want to establish ourselves again as personalities and speak without being suppressed.

"Veterans of World War II still bear the unhealed scars of memory in our minds. We are the latest generation of veterans who, you might say, helped write the music of our great National Anthem in good red American blood. So now we don't want to be relegated to the chorus. We've earned a right to sing some solo parts in the score.

"How can I make our position clearer than to say we Amvets bring ourselves as a big, growing, able-bodied brother in the family of all war veterans and, as any brother does, we want to be individuals while keeping the bonds of family membership. If sometimes, in a fit of nerves, we make a little mistake that does not break the fraternal ties with our older brothers, the VFWs and American Legion.

"Now for some facts. It is only a year ago last December when 32 different seedling organizations of War II met at Kansas City and decided that they must merge into one central fraternity if they were to survive. The only basic requirement was that a member, regardless of creed, color, race or sex, must have an honorable discharge from some branch of the U. S. military service. Recognition of all wartime ranks was eliminated—by which it must not be misconstrued that we hold prejudice against officers, but just that peace had leveled us back to a common status.

"Today the new departments operating in 48 states with constantly expanding numbers of posts. For example, a year ago we only had two posts in Massachusetts and a tiny handful of members. But today we have nearer 90 with some 850 members at this writing, not including those still in service. And before the end of this year we confidently expect to have 300 posts and 100,000 strong within this state alone.

E Pluribus Unum

"OUR PROBLEM HAS BEEN how to let the War II men know what we stand for, what we offer and why we have organized. Because too many of our gang, once rid of hated Army restrictions, want to purge all thought of anything military. Like Garbo, they 'want to be alone.' We've got to break that feeling down. Then too, we've had a little trouble in getting our finances started. But the roots are firmly set now and the tree is sturdy and flourishing.

"One matter we want to make plain to all veterans, from all wars, that the Amvets is not in any sense a closed shop, that we do not require a member to repudiate other vet organizations. He can join us and as many others as he likes. We have been dictated to ad nauseam, do not propose to dictate to our brotherhood now except where it concerns the common good—which I think you will agree is the definition of true democracy. The greatest good for the greatest number."

"In due time we will undoubtedly broaden our objectives. Right now we Amvets are concerned with assuring veterans of this war that they will not get pushed around as those after World War I were. We want our share of places in the Veterans' Administration. We demand closer watch on the treatment of wounded and ailing veterans and enough hospitals to care for them, and an honest shake in the GI Bill of Rights, and a restoration to honorable status for those veterans who were victimized by cruel and careless court-martial trials, and a decent chance for all War I men to rehabilitate themselves in a land which owes its security to them.

"If that be politics, then let us be politicians. For more than ever in American history this is a time for straight, unselfish thinking by national minded men. We War II men believe we have qualified to that regard. Our Americanism cannot be doubted and though we have changed uniforms to civvies again, we wear the same skins.

"So thanks for the pulpit, Austen, and let me close by saying the veterans' slogan, Amvet or otherwise, should be that of the nation, 'E Pluribus Unum,' one from many. We insist on separate individuality—we the voiceless restored to speech. We who insist on standing alone will also stand together with our brotherhoods. Do I make myself clear?"

Ed.—Yes! Who can object?

Ranger-New Haven Hockey Link Told

NEW HAVEN, Conn., March 27 (AP)—Jacob Podoloff, vice president in charge of professional hockey at the New Haven Arena, announced today he had completed a deal with the New York Rangers whereby the National League club would operate New Haven's entry in the American League next season.

Podoloff said he had no information about the future plans of Eddie Shore, who operated the Eagles and also the Fort Worth entry in the U. S. League during the past season, although it has been reported widely that Shore was planning to return to Springfield, Mass., where he holds an American League franchise.

Bruins Head for Hub With Two-Game Edge

By FRED HOEY

EN ROUTE TO BOSTON, March 27—Art Ross' game and courageous Bruins are well on their way to the Stanley Cup final. This fact was emphasized in Detroit last night and Sunday when they downed the savage Red Wings. Tomorrow night at the series.

It's been a long time since the Bruins have put on such stellar hockey as they have shown here in this series. There is every reason to expect the Rossmen to give the Canadiens a real battle for the Stanley Cup.

The Bruins are not due to reach Boston until 9 tonight. The Red Wings don't leave Detroit until 7 o'clock tonight, and they have that wearying 17-hour ride, arriving there only a few hours before game time. Ross was anxious that his men have a night's rest in their homes. This may prove very vital as the boys square off for the fifth game.

Both the Bruins and Wings suffered some severe bumps as a result of last night's savage battle. It was savage in every sense of the word. High sticking and board checks were quite the regular thing. And those rabid Detroit fans didn't like it a bit when Referee King Clancy didn't inflict a half-dozen penalties against the Boston boys.

But Ross instructed his men to remain on the ice and duck the penalty box. It was especially trying on many of the Bruins who took a severe going over at the hands of the Wings. Near the close of the first period, Bulky Hal Jackson, in elbowing Milt Schmidt, butt-ended the latter on the top of the forehead for two stitches.

Manager Ross again handled his replacements faultlessly. All three lines and his two defenses worked together beautifully.

It was a rare treat to see Dit Clapper back on defense. The old warrior knew the main idea was 4 Straight!

CHICAGO, March 27 (INS)

—The Montreal Canadiens flashed into the Stanley Cup finals as they humiliated the Chicago Black Hawks for the fourth consecutive time in semi-final play, 7 to 2.

Chener boy. The Bruins caught the Wing defense down the ice. The ever alert Jack Crawford made a short forward to Dumart. Then followed a grand race. Jackson was trying to overtake "Porky," but the latter was too fast and had only Harry Lumley to beat for the second Hub goal in 14:54.

The third period was also jammed with action. The ever hustling "Bep" Gaudion took a pass from Don Gallinger and buck-handled a goal in 4:48. The Wings got one goal back in 8:40 flat when Carveth and Hilditt combined with Couture to enable the latter to score.

Terry Reardon came up with the final Boston tally in 11:34.

"For Labor—For Industry—For America!"

A Non-Partisan Organization

CHARLES L. GIBSON, PRESIDENT

WHAT IS IT? Just what its name implies, a voluntary association of citizens who have joined forces to create and preserve more harmonious relations between Labor and Industry.

WHO ARE MEMBERS? Members include workers who pay dues to Labor Unions and people from all walks of business and professional life.

WHY ARE THEY ORGANIZING?

(1) UNION LEADERS in Massachusetts are ACCOUNTABLE TO NO ONE for, and have the UNRESTRICTED USE of, One Million Dollars per month—money that can be used without regard to the wishes of the 504,000 men and women in the State who pay Union dues. (Some unions account to their members; most do not!)

(2) They believe that the worker who pays dues to a Labor Union has a right to know HOW MUCH COMES IN and WHERE IT GOES.

(3) They believe that UNION FUNDS should be spent for UNION BUSINESS and NOT for POLITICAL PURPOSES.

WHAT DO THEY HOPE TO ACCOMPLISH?

Improvement of relations between Labor, Management and the Public. To that end, the job right now is: Passage by the current legislature of two laws:

(1) AN ACT TO PROVIDE THAT LABOR UNIONS SHALL FILE CERTAIN STATEMENTS AND REPORTS WITH THE COMMISSIONER OF LABOR AND INDUSTRIES. (Statement of all revenue and expenditures.)

(2) AN ACT RELATIVE TO CONTRIBUTIONS BY LABOR UNIONS OR PERSONS ACTING IN BEHALF THEREOF FOR POLITICAL PURPOSES OR TO CAMPAIGN FUNDS. (Making such contributions unlawful.)

—OR—

Acceptance by the voters of these laws on the ballots as referendum next November.

WHAT IS LABOR'S ATTITUDE? Conscientiously operated Labor Unions are in favor of this proposed legislation. Workers want an accounting. They're being forced to support candidates and causes they might not approve.

IS THE CITIZENS UNION FOR LABOR?

Definitely! This public-spirited association's aim is to prevent ABUSE OF POWER by LABOR OFFICIALS. It advocates that Labor Unions, like corporations, be required to register under the Corrupt Practices Act.

This Non-Partisan Organization is YOUR union.

Tex Tests Yankees

By HERB FINNEGAN

SARASOTA, Fla., March 27—While the Red Sox "Rinky Dinks" traveled to Ft. Myers today to face the Louisville Colonels, the Regulars got in some much needed batting practice for their game with the Yankees in St. Petersburg tomorrow. Beaten three times running by the Bronx Bombers, though Mike Ryba's B team beat the Yankees, Bs, for psychological reasons. Manager Cronin will start Tex Hughson in the box. Also, he'll have Bobby Doerr on second base for the first time since last Friday. Thus he'll present his full strength.

Hughson pitched six innings against the Indians last Friday, fanned seven and left with a 6-2 lead. In the same game, Doerr tripped off the left field wall in the first inning, pulled a leg muscle rounding first base and retired promptly. He rested the leg completely two days but is running again and, today, pronounced himself fit.

Hughson is in excellent trim. "I felt good against Cleveland. Could have gone nine innings easily."

The Yanks' DiMaggio, Keller and Rizzuto will see something tomorrow, especially if it goes nine. "Stubbie" Overmire and Virgil Trucks of the Tigers shut out the Sox, 4-0, while holding them to three hits, two of which were infield scratches. . . . Overmire gave two hits and one walk in six innings. . . . Ted Williams infield hit was the only safety off Trucks.

Detroit scored two runs in the fourth when Bob Swift doubled. Overmire got a flukey double when Ed Pellagrini and Al Blair collided chasing his pop fly in the infield and Eddie Lake beat out an infield hit. . . . Three Boston pitchers, Charlie Wagner, Earl Johnson and Larry Powell, didn't have it, allowing nine hits.

Ramblers Take Medford Throne

A capable basketball team, the Ramblers captured the Medford city junior league title last night, winning over 15 other teams. The league was sponsored by the Medford Youth Commission.

Ed Pidgeon, Medford High coach, and Harry Smith of the American Legion headed the committee supervising the league, and their efforts were crowned with outstanding success. Play was good all season, and the activity proved one of the most popular furnished for the city's youngsters.

The Ramblers' big night came recently when they were presented jackets by Mayor Lawrence at a banquet held in Medford High.

Bob Batten Named Holy Cross Captain

WORCESTER, March 27 (INS).—Robert E. Batten, Mantua, N. J., shortstop for the past two seasons, was named today as captain of the Holy Cross baseball team.

'Ice Is Out! On Sebago Lake

By "TAP" GOODENOUGH

Next Monday, April 1, marks the opening of the fishing season in southern Maine, where brooks and streams should yield plenty of the savory specie—barring heavy rains—according to reports we have received.

Word flashed by the Associated Press from Augusta says that Big Bay at Sebago lake became ice-free early today.

Chief Game Warden Lester E. Brown said the departure of the ice from the bay was the earliest in many years. "A strong wind from the northeast did the trick," he reported. "It was the first section of any Maine lake or pond to lose winter ice."

Conditions are expected to be favorable on opening day at the famous Bangor Salmon Pool, and tradition decrees that the initial salmon of the year be sent to the President of the United States. Mrs. Truman has been advised to have her frying pan in readiness!

ANGLING ANGLES: Comes word from West Palm Beach, Fla., that the annual Sailfish Derby is still on, with many sportsmen participating. . . . A Boston group landed six Sails on Capt. Sherrick Haddock's "Skipper"—Ben Greenishield released one Sail, while his wife and C. P. Dennett each caught one, and Mrs. Priscilla Goodrich was credited with three.

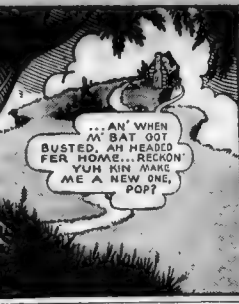

Good catches of flounder are being taken from the Bass River Bridge, near Yarmouth, on Cape Cod. . . . Those rumors about strippers in the Canal still persist; every angler we've met recently has told us about 'em, it seems! As a matter of fact, we believe the tale originated with a chap who hooked a couple of winter fish—which is quite possible.

Arthur Kitson, Mass. Fisheries and Game Div., in charge of the stream stocking program, told us that the actual figures of the number of fish hooked this spring will soon be available, naming the amounts planted in each stream, lake, and pond. . . . Every Bay State angler is anxious to see this list.

CLUB CHATTER: Another meeting of the Boston Anglers' Club will be held Friday evening, at the Mary Curley School, Jamaica Plain. . . . Since fishing from the shore is restricted at Jamaica Pond, a committee has been appointed to find out if a section on the bank can be approved for casting purposes, while another group will seek ways to erect a municipal clubhouse for anglers. . . . Dick Welton, of the Newton Anglers Club, tells us that his outfit has 100 members, all eager to land some trout!

Vernon Kennedy to Pitch for Padres

SAN DIEGO, Calif., March 27 (AP)—Vernon Kennedy, veteran major league pitcher, has been acquired by the San Diego Padres. President Bill Starr has announced. Starr said the rangy right-hander is flying here from his home in Menden, Me., and would be in uniform for the Coast League opener Friday night. The 37-year-old hurler was made a free agent by the Cincinnati Reds.

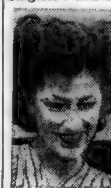

Braves Getting Set For Northern Trek For Flankmen

By BILL GRIMES

FT. LAUDERDALE, Fla., March 27—The Braves are getting ready to break camp. Squad buses to Ft. Myers to after which they'll head for Tampa. The other players will lay over here until tomorrow night, and then take a train to Tampa.

Mrs. Nanny Fernandez and son Bobby along with Mrs. Elmer Singleton and son Joey leave tonight for Boston. The Fernandez family drove east from California but recently sold their car. Mrs. Billy Southworth and Carol, her ten-year-old daughter who has been tutored here since the middle of February, will start for Sunbury, O., by motor. They will take Mrs. Max West with them as far as Columbus, O., from where the latter will go to her old home at Fort Wayne, Ind., to remain until the Braves return to Boston from their first western trip.

Mrs. Johnny McCarthy and Mrs. Charles Lacks, wife of the Braves' trainer, will start for New York by automobile. Mrs. McCarthy will visit for a week or more with Sgt. and Mrs. Haeser of the New York Police Dept., but Mrs. Lacks will continue on to Boston.

Mrs. Carden Gillenwater will motor north as the guest of Mrs. John Sain. They hope to be able to keep in sight of Mrs. McCarthy's car for neither of them have ever made the trip over the road.

Mrs. Connie Ryan and Mrs. Bill Lee returned to New Orleans and Plaquemine, La., respectively, ten days ago, and Mrs. Jimmie

Myers Hunts For Flankmen

Coach Denny Myers of Boston College is living up to his plan of driving his football Eagles. There isn't an idle moment once the boys get on the gridiron.

Monday afternoon, when Myers held his first meeting, which was a skull drill at Cardinal O'Connell Hall, he said that the 1942 squad was one of the hardest working units he had coached, and that this squad would be used as an example in 1946.

Opening with calisthenics and track work, Myers sent his charges through a few of the basic formations of the T. Although most of the candidates have been working out on the track for the last week, and are in fair shape, it did not satisfy the Eagle mentor who is striving for perfection in every position.

With but two veterans on the end squad, Bob Currian and Veto Stasunas, Myers is paying particular attention to all candidates for the flank posts. Chris Lipka will return to classes in the fall, but even his presence will not completely fill the need for depth.

Myers plans a scrimmage in a few days to see what many of the former high school stars have to offer. Of the entire squad which numbers more than 70, less than 20 are veterans with previous experience at the Heights.

Grid Yanks Sign Ex-Fordham Stars

Two former Fordham University ends—Jim Lansing and George Tepo—had signed contracts today with the Boston Yanks for the coming National League football season.

Lansing made All-America as junior at Fordham in 1941, and was elected captain of the Rams the following year. He left the university, however, to become a Navy flier.

Tepo was at Fordham in 1940, and was considered one of the best ends in the country. He left school to join the Army and never completed his college career.

Jack Sharkey Sees Big Boom in Major Sports

By JACK CONWAY

JACK SHARKEY, former heavyweight champion of the world, believes that boxing, baseball, racing and other sports are going to have a boom during the next five years that will be comparable to the Golden Twenties when Dempsey, Tunney and himself were principals in $1,000,000 boxing gates, Babe Ruth headed the baseball parade, Walter Hagen shattered golf marks, Bill Tilden set the tennis pace and Earl Sande showed how to boot winners in at race tracks.

"I have been refereeing boxing and wrestling bouts in all parts of the United States and Canada

Jack Sharkey arenas in the small cities and towns have not been large enough to care for all those who wished to attend boxing and wrestling shows.

"In the South, the major league ball clubs have been drawing record crowds. The baseball magnates were worried over the large expense of Southern trips with all costs mounting. The big crowds that have attended the various games will furnish the financial revenue to pay off most of the expenses. One baseball columnist recently remarked that the professionals are back in baseball.

"That is one of the answers for the new interest in baseball. I know I would like to be at a ball game watching Ted Williams, Dom DiMaggio, Johnny Pesky, Charley Keller, Joe DiMaggio and Joe Gordon in action."

Attains New Popularity

SHARKEY attained new popularity when he made his trip to the battle fronts in one of the most critical periods of the war. Since then Sharkey has been enthusiastically received every place he has gone.

When Jack Dempsey was in Boston in February, he told friends that when he gets his $5,000,000 sports syndicate in action, which will have a new building in New York as one of its outlets, that he hopes Sharkey will participate in his program of promotions.

Meanwhile Sharkey is devoting considerable time to training Johnny Shkor, former All-America boxer. Sharkey goes out on the road with Shkor, and spends hours drilling him in the gymnasium.

"There is a shortage of heavyweight talent," said Sharkey, "and I feel Shkor will be able to give a good account of himself against the best of them after he has a few bouts."

Sharkey is still of the opinion Joe Louis will defeat Billy Conn in their title bout in New York on June 19.

"Louis hits too hard for Conn," said Sharkey.

Sharkey, one of the best referes in the country, has agreed to be third man in the ring when Olaf Olson of Milwaukee and Babe Sharkey of Texas meet in a finish mat bout at a Paul Bowser show at the Arena tomorrow night. There is no doubt about Jack's ability to handle the husky grapplers. Sharkey is in better physical condition than any other former champion.

Likes Jake LaMotta

SHARKEY LIKES the fistie style of Jake LaMotta who will clash with "Kid" Chicken of Pittsburgh at a Goodwin A. C. show at the Garden on Friday night.

"LaMotta is one of the busiest fellows in the middleweight class," said Sharkey. "Jake keeps going forward every second he is in the ring. I have yet to see him back up for an opponent."

"Even a good boxer finds it difficult keeping away from an opponent who will not take a backward step. Kid Chicken is a very clever ring man, but he will have to display unusual speed and boxing skill if he is to avoid being hit by LaMotta's hefty wallop."

During the hockey season, Sharkey developed into a leading schoolboy hockey fan. The reason for the former champion's interest in hockey was due to the fact Jack Jr. was one of the stars of the Newton high hockey team.

"I do not believe Jack Sharkey missed a Newton high game all season," Walter Brown told this writer. "He knew everything about the schoolboy players due to the fact, Jack Jr. was one of their number. You cannot help liking Sharkey whose interest in his home and family were always above everything else."

4 Grid Vets On Saugus Squad

By MIKE GILLOOLY

Spring football takes its place with the major sports activities at Saugus High School where Coach Ted Galligan, finding himself in the same strange position as the local college coaches at Harvard and B. C., has a squad of 48 boys working out for the Friday night game with Peabody, April 12, at Manning Bowl.

Actually, this will be Galligan's first team as he takes over the reins from school committeeman Dave Lucey. He formerly was assistant to Henry Toczylowski with the Satchems but, on his appointment as head coach, he left to join the Navy.

Saugus has four veterans back—Capt. Andy Forte, at center; Tom Sheehan, quarterback; Irving Campbell, at tackle; and Ray Domey, at guard. Halfback Cusby Harris, sidelined with pulled tendons in both legs, will not be available until the fall but, as a three-year veteran, he should be able to win back his first string rating from either George Laskey or Ernie Agans, probable starters against the Tanners.

Other tentative starters list John Forte, a cousin of the captain, at fullback; Ed Ayers and John Wladkowski at ends; Lester Woodbury at tackle; and Gene Decerau at a guard.

Wellesley has been added to the revived Bay State League baseball schedule, to open the season April 20, against Natick. The Needham Boosters' Club has put up the Asa M. Small trophy with a team in the league forced to take the title three times before gaining permanent possession.

Capt. Billy McCarthy has his East Boston High School baseball team working outdoors. . . the Morano twins, Joe and Larry, captain the team. . . Joe will play third base and Larry second. . . the versatile Gene Teevens will be back as catcher. . . other veterans include Andy Vaccaro, George La Voie and Larry Hagemaster.

Boston Tech's baseball candidates offer a tremendous problem for Coach Herman McGrath. . . 235 boys turned out for the first practice session. . . Tech has a veteran keystone combination in Capt. Billy Younger, shortstop, and George Shionis, second base.

Battles Again

TAMPA, Fla. (AP)—Tommy Gomez, promising young Tampa heavyweight who came out of the war with 16 German machinegun bullet wounds, went ahead yesterday with preparations for the stiffest bout of his career, that with Freddie Schott of Patterson, N. J., here April 15.

Don Budge Seeks To Halt Bob Riggs In Garden Tennis

Big Donald Budge, the Oakland, Cal., redhead, will make a determined bid to stop Bobby Riggs at the Garden tonight when the two rivals meet in a one night match. Wayne Sabin and Johnny Faunce will play in the opening match.

Budge has enjoyed very little success against his smaller rival since the two hooked up in their current tour. Riggs knocked over Budge in their first five contests and it wasn't until last Saturday night in New York's 7th Regiment Armory that Don managed to halt the Riggs' surge.

Prior to their current trek, Budge and Riggs met in service play in the Pacific. Budge took the first three matches, but Riggs exploded and won the final two. Then, in the professional championships in Los Angeles, Bobby won handily. Later, in a challenge match, Riggs again topped Budge.

Johnny Faunce, the Hollywood professional, and wily Wayne Sabin will open the night's play. They will be followed by the Budge-Riggs set. The final event of the night will pit Budge and Sabin against Riggs and Faunce in the doubles.

Johnny Lujack Pays Coach Leahy Visit

SOUTH BEND, Ind., March 26 (INS)—Football Coach Fran Leahy of Notre Dame saw a welcome figure today on the campus—Johnny Lujack, 1943 quarterback, who is spending a few days of his 25-day leave from the Navy among familiar surroundings.

An ensign, Lujack, who won four letters at Notre Dame in his only year of competition, will be discharged from the Navy shortly and will return to Notre Dame for the semester beginning in September.

Kentucky Derby Fans Advised to Stay Home

LOUISVILLE, Ky., March 27 (AP)—Police Chief A. E. Kimberling advised out-of-town Kentucky Derby fans to stay at home this year—unless they already have housing reservations. There won't be any surplus rooms in Louisville on the Derby week-end. "Unless you're of the rugged, out-of-doors type," Kimberling warned, "please stay away from the Kentucky Derby May 4."

DELARA FINED $100

TROPICAL PARK, Fla., March 27 (AP)—The Tropical stewards today fined Jockey Abelardo Delara $100 for rough riding. Delara rode Neotes in Tuesday's third race and was charged with coming over sharply at the three-eighths pole, forcing Yank Bombardier over on Jack Dove and making the latter pull up.

Hoffman Backs 5-Cent Breakage

Agricultural fairs in the Bay State would have to prove they promote agriculture before being given permission to conduct race betting under a bill weighed today by the legislative committee on legal affairs.

Louis Hoffman, chairman of the racing commission, told the committee that the commission now has eight applications for fair licenses.

Another bill before the committee would force race tracks to give breakage to the nearest nickel rather than to the nearest dime.

Hoffman favored the five cent breakage bill but personally preferred that the computation be broken down to the penny. He admitted that if this was done the bettor would gain at the expense of the state and track. Last year the state obtained $691,000 on breakage, he revealed.

"I am favoring the bill because half a loaf is better than none," Hoffman said. "The bettor should get every cent he wins. If there must be breakage, I prefer that the state take it all."

How Major Leaguers Fare in Dixie Land

By the Associated Press
TAMPA, Fla., March 27 (AP)—The Cincinnati Reds will aim for their third straight victory over the world champion Detroit Tigers at Lakeland today. Deacon Bill McKee, Red Sox manager, has named Lefty Clyde Shoun and Frank Dasso for mound duty.

ORLANDO, Fla., March 27 (AP)—Much of the praise coming out of the camp of the Washington Senators is about second sacker Jerry Friddy. Manager Ossie Bluege is pleased over the veteran's aggressiveness.

MIAMI, Fla., March 27 (AP)—

Convinced that Monty Kenedy, 23-year-old southpaw hurler, has great possibilities despite his wildness, the New York Giants have bought him for $25,000 from the Richmond Colts of the Piedmont League. The rookie has been with the Giants all through the training period on a trial basis. He'll probably be sent to the New Yorkers' Jersey City International League farm for more seasoning.

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla., March 27 (AP)—With Joe Gordon on the sidelines with an injured hand, the New York Yankees had a big scare yesterday when Snuffy Stirnweis, their able third baseman, was struck in the mouth by a grounder. The injury didn't prove serious and Snuffy, recently converted to a third baseman, is expected to see action against Brooklyn today.

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla., March 27 (AP)—St. Louis Cardinal pitcher Ted Wilks will have his tonsils removed before the Redbirds leave St. Petersburg, says Manager Eddie Dyer. After X-raying Wilks' arm a physician expressed the opinion the hurler's painful elbow was due to infected tonsils.

Mrs. Rihbany Enters Indoor Court Final

Mrs. Helen Pederson Rihbany of New York, defending champion, experienced little difficulty today in her march to the finals of the national Women's indoor tennis championships at Longwood. Mrs. Rihbany eliminated Sylvia Knowles, Newport, R. I., in straight sets, 6-3, 6-2.

ET LAUDERDALE, Fla., March 27—The Braves would up their stay here against the Phillies at Westside Park today. Elmer Singleton and Oscar Judd were the starting pitchers. Singleton lost his last start against the Jays, due to poor support, but he has the variety behind him today.

Rollie Hemsley, formerly with the Yankees, who reported this morning, was behind the bat for the Phils.

Ben Cardoni has refused to report to the Little Rock club. He will leave tomorrow morning for New York.

Early today, Chief of Scouts Ted McGrew and Scout Henie Manush started in the Braves' station wagon for Greenwood, Miss. They took along Red Carmichael, playing manager of Leavenworth, a Tribe farm in the Western Ass'n; Bob Ayotte, the catcher from Lowell, who belongs to Hartford; and Stan Wentzel, who will be dropped off at Deland, Indianapolis training site.

FIRST INNING

PHILLIES—Murtaugh walked. Newsome singled. Wyrostek was called out on strikes. After tossing out Northey, Singleton filled the bases by intentionally passing McCormick. Novikoff lined to Wietelmann. NO RUNS.

BRAVES—McCormick grabbed Ryan's pop fly. Judd tossed out Hopp. Rowell lined to Wyrostek. NO RUNS.

SECOND INNING

PHILLIES—Taber hit a home run over the left field fence.
